Looking Two Ways.

What is Taft anyway? Is he in favor of the "reactionary" policies, the "Roosevelt policies," is he "safe and sane" like Joe Cannon and Aldrich, or is he radical like La Follette and Bristoll of Kansas? Or is he all three—"everything by turns and nothing long?"

During all the Roosevelt administration the Baltimore Sun, published by the millionaire Abell family, has opposed the Roosevelt policies. Now it declares for Taft on the ground that Taft would repudiate the policies of Roosevelt. In its issue on page one of the issue of the Baltimore Sun of September 29, that paper in a special from Fargo, North Dakota, says "Mr. Taft asserts himself the true heir and political son of Mr. Roosevelt." That was the telegram from North Dakota.

On the same day the Sun had an editorial one column long trying to show that Bryan ought to be defeated because he would carry out the policies like those Roosevelt has stood for, while Taft would reverse the Roosevelt policies. From that editorial this extract is taken.

"Mr. Taft's public record and his habit of mind justify the belief that he would take no official action until by research and contemplation he had formed an intelligent conception of the probable consequences of his action.
If he were in the White House we should not have government by impulse or intuition or caprice, but government by reason. The nation needs now a Chief Magistrate having characteristics which Mr. Roosevelt has never pretended to possess, and which Mr.
Bryan has given no evidence of possessing in his public career.

"It is, indeed, not difficult to indicate points of striking resemblance between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Bryan—to show a certain parallelism between Mr.
Roosevelt and the Nebraska statesman. The points of difference between the President and Mr. Bryan, on the one hand, and Mr. Taft in the other, are distinct and pronounced. And because Mr. Taft is in many respects the antithesis of the President his election to the Chief Magistracy is the logical remedy for the conditions resulting in part from Mr. Roosevelt's methods in office. The country has every reason to assume that a President with the characteristics which Mr. Roosevelt attributes to Mr. Taft would not introduce into his administration methods which are wholly incompatible with the character and record of Mr. Taft. The country has sound reason for assuming that since Mr. Bryan is temperamentally much like Mr. Roosevelt, a Bryan administration would probably result in a continuance of methods which, in the Roosevelt administration, created anxiety and apprehension in business circles and among the wage-earners."

In Baltimore, Taft is held up as the "antithesis of Roosevelt" who would suit the plutocrats. In the West, Taft is held up as a man of reform, responsible for all the Roosevelt policies that are progressive. Is he facing two ways?

Taft Loses Ground.

The New York Evening Post, which has been supporting Taft had the following as its leader editorial a few days ago: "If we may judge from letters which come to us and from the comment which everyone hears, something like two or three thousand hesitating voters must be turned from Mr.
Taft every time he expounds anew his peculiar doctrine about the Wilson tariff and the panic of 1893. We do not recall any selection of an "issue" by a candidate in any previous campaign so thoroughly calculated to do a minimum of good and a maximum of harm to his political fortunes. We can assure Mr. Taft that for every muddle-headed farmer who might have deluded a hundred intelligent readers of his words among his natural supporters in other localities were stirred to indignation against them."

Republican Chairman on Increased Cost of Living.

Frank N. Hitchcock, now chairman of Republican national committee, was formerly first assistant postmaster general. In the report of his first assistant postmaster general for the fiscal year ending June 3, 1906, Frank H.
Hitchcock recommended that the salaries of the officials and clerks in the postoffice, and salaries of letter carriers be increased. In that report Mr.
Hitchcock said:

"There has occurred in the cost of living, rendering more pronounced the present inadequacy of postoffice salaries." Later, before the house committee on postoffice and postroad, Mr.
Hitchcock estimated that it would require a five million dollar increase in order to raise these salaries to the living point.

Do the People Rule?

In an address before the Bankers' Convention at Denver, Woodrow Wilson, president of Princeton, used this expression: "The most striking fact about the actual organization of modern society is that the most conspicuous, the most rapidly wielded, and the most formidable power is not the power of government, but the power of capital. Men of our day in England and America have almost forgotten that it is to fear government, but have found out what it is to fear the power of capital, to watch it with jealousy and suspicion, and trace to its source every open or hidden wrong."

The reason capital is a "more formidable power than government" is because capital organized into trusts controls Congress through Cannon in the House and through Aldrich in the Senate by reason of their big contributions to the Republican campaign fund and control of that party. With Bryan in the White House, capital will have every protection but then President Wilson will not be forced to say that capital is a "more formidable power than government." The trusts must abdicate.

A Square Deal

Is assured you when you buy Dr. Pierce's family medicines—for all the ingredients entering into them are printed on the bottle-wrappers and their formulas are attested under oath as being complete and correct. You know just what you are paying for and that the ingredients are gathered from Nature's laboratory, being selected from the most valuable native medicinal roots found growing in our American forests and while potent to cure are perfectly harmless even to the most delicate women and children. Not a drop of alcohol enters into their composition.
A much better agent is used both for extracting and preserving the medicinal principles used in them, viz., pure triplicated glycerine. This agent possesses intrinsic medicinal properties of its own, being a most valuable antiseptic and antiferment, nutritive and soothing demulcent.

Glycerine plays an important part in the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia and weak stomach, attended by sour risings, heart-burn, foul breath, coated tongue, poor appetite, gnawing feeling in stomach, biliousness and kindred derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels.

Besides curing all the above distressing ailments, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a specific for all diseases of the mucous membranes, as catarrh, whether of the nasal passages or of the stomach, bowels or pelvic organs. Even in its ulcerative stages it will yield to this sovereign remedy if its use be persevered in. In Chronic Catarrh of the Nasal passages, it is well while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" for the necessary constitutional treatment, to cleanse the passages freely two or three times a day with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. This thorough course of treatment generally cures the worst cases.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchial, throat and lung affections, except consumption in its advanced stages, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most efficient remedy, especially in those obstinate, hang-on coughs caused by irritation and congestion of the bronchial mucous membranes. The "Discovery" is not so good for acute coughs arising from sudden colds, nor must it be expected to cure consumption in its advanced stages—no medicine will do that—but for all the obstinate, chronic coughs, which, if neglected, or badly treated, lead up to consumption, it is the best medicine that can be taken.
